The Wellington Botanical Society Bulletin is fortunate to have another bumper crop of articles in 2012. It is wonderful to see, and to facilitate, the continued documentation and sharing of botanical knowledge, both at a national level and with a special focus on the southern North Island.

Thank you very much to all contributors, especially those who have been waiting patiently through the longer gestation of this year's issue. Acknowledgement is also very much due to Jill Goodwin who proof-read all of the articles, and to Jeremy Rolfe who assembled the text and figures into the final product and arranged for its printing.
